

Supplementary Fig. 2. Endoscopic pouch phenotype according to the Chicago classification. (A) Normal pouch, (B) afferent limb involvement (an arrowhead shows an erosion), (C) inlet involvement (arrowheads show erosions), (D) diffuse inflammation of the pouch body, (E) focal inflammation of the pouch body, (F) cuffitis, and (G) pouch fistula (an arrowhead shows a fistula).